BRAD'S BLOG

Spring is finally here and we are preparing for another great year for Michiana Mustangs. I've set up another Mustang birthday party at Mustang McDonald's for Sunday, April 17 at 5:00 PM. We'll supply the cake & cars and I'll try to get some "freebies" from them.

Art & I visited Harold Zeigler Ford and met Mike Essig, the general sales manager. We lined up a show & shine for Saturday, June 4. He seemed very enthused and has some ideas of his own.

Plans are underway for the Shelby Spring Fling at Brown County State Park in May, Memorial Day parades, and our show on August 6 at Concord Mall. Received a call from a former member we've not seen in years and I invited him to the next meeting. Come to Honkers April 11 and welcome him back!

Last Month's Meeting

President Brad Milliken opened the meeting by welcoming the members and guests. Everyone was overjoyed to see member Shirley Weaver! Shirley had been absent for more than a year with various health problems. How great it was to see both she and Larry back in our midst!! Jim and June Schmidt were back from their February trek to Florida. They didn't bring back summer this year either.

Members and guests in attendance were: Scott Anderson, David & Peggy Anson, Howard Barrett, Art Campbell, Jerry & Leslie Handlin, Marty Hughes, Roger & Shirley Kaser, Chris Kern, Elaine Kersey, Rob Killingsworth, Hal & Rose McClure, Pete & Marilyn McClure with Kelly, Steve & Cindy Miller, Brad Milliken & Kim Zink, Bob Moore, Ron & Charlotte Newcomer, Phil Nico-demus, Kenny & Diane Reed, Robert D. Relos, Ted & Pat Sauerbeck, Jim & June Schmidt, Scott & Sharone Smith, Mona Steiner, Mark Taelman, George & Shirley Wachs, and Larry & Shirley Weaver

MCA Regional Director, Jim Schmidt had no MCA report, but reported that he will be requesting the insurance for our club show on August 6th and the Tire Rack event on Sept. 10, 2011. Since only a few insurance requests will be granted for driving events, it is important that we send ours right away. Jim also had found a site on the computer that advertised Mustang-shaped lollipops for sale. He will request more information.

Jim also had a call from the Essenhaus Restaurant, wondering if we would participate in the cruise-ins again. They remarked that everyone enjoyed our club's glorious display of our cars and it was also good for their business. The club members agreed that it was a good spot to showcase our club and obtain more members. Ken Schmitt has taken care of this in the past, but he was not present at the meeting. The contact info will be forwarded to Ken.

In addition, the Club received a proposal from ACME Apparel to sell licensed Ford apparel at our show. They ship a package and we sell what we can and return what's left. We get a percentage and they handle all shipping. Jim will get more details and report at the next meeting.

July 23rd is the date for the Show and Shine at Eby Ford in Goshen. (Editor's note: this has been rescheduled to June 18). Eby Ford will sponsor a Club membership for each new Mustang sold this year.

May 20-22 will be the SPRING FLING at Brown County. Some members had received their SAAC newsletters with the application already, so if you plan to go, send your app in as soon as possible to get a cabin or lodge space. For many years this has been our best-attended event, so let's continue with a great turn out.

Treasurer Ron Newcomer gave the treasurer's report. It was approved as read.

There has been only one application submitted for our club scholarship. It was suggested that we follow up on the previous scholarship winners to see what they are doing now.

Members Pat and Bob Goeller asked the club to keep their new granddaughter in our prayers. She has had health problems since birth.

Karen and Howard Barrett are celebrating 41 years of wedded bliss.

Larry Weaver won $36 in the 50/50. Welcome back, Larry. Ken Reed won a bottle of Mustang after shave, and Roger Kaser won an MCA Calendar.

Show chairperson Carl Kindig was not present, so there was no report from him.

The meeting was adjourned at 7:30.

Mustang Birthday Party

Come out to Mustang McDonald's on Sunday, April 17 starting at 5:00 for another birthday party for the Ford Mustang. The club will furnish a couple of cakes and we will bring the cars for a little show & shine at McDonald's. I'm lovin' it!

As in the past, I'll try to get them to through in some free stuff. Now if the ol' weatherman will cooperate...

2011 Cavalcade of Wheels

Another great show and a real good time was had by Harold and Loretta and me. Set-up time was Friday morning and with help from each other it went quite smoothly. We both had fairly good locations, not as good as last year, but we did receive a lot of traffic on the lower level. A few of the club members passed by and we had time to talk about the show. There was a real nice selection of cars and some were really outstanding. Our cars were judged on Saturday with the awards being presented at about 5:30 PM. Harold won a second place award in custom convertible along with a trophy for best display (which he put a lot of time into) along with a twenty-five dollar check. They also won a trophy for most unusual exhibit non-motorized for the 1/2 Mustang they pull as a trailer. I received a first place trophy for my Red GT.

'For those who may be interested, these cars were at the show and I remember when I was younger and thrilled with drag racing. Dick Brannen from South Bend was very popular and won a lot of races with these Fords.' - Howard Barrett

Harold and Loretta Jedrzejewski's multiple award winning 'Mustang and a half'

Harold and I have decided that we are going to plan a club display again for next year's show. We will need an additional car and if anyone is interested please contact me as we are going to get started on some ideas real soon.

Sincerely, Howard Barrett

Harold Barrett also won a trophy with his GT

Saleen Performance to end S302 Ford Mustang production, prepares to expand

By DALE JEWETT on 3/09/2011

Saleen Performance plans to stop building the S302 Ford Mustang by this fall.

If ordering a Saleen S302 Ford Mustang is on your wish list, the time to do it is now.

Revstone Industries, owner of Saleen Performance Vehicles, said on Wednesday that it will stop taking orders for the car in May and will finish building Saleen Mustangs in suburban Detroit by the fall.

But the Lexington, Ky.-based company is not getting out of the performance parts and merchandise businesses and isn't abandoning the vehicle-upfitting field, spokesman Pete Borum said.

In fact, Revstone wants to grow those businesses. But the company says that the Saleen name has become so connected with the Ford Mustang that it needs a fresh start in the market.

Also, the Saleen name has passed through a series of owners since race-car driver Steve Saleen launched his performance-Mustang business in 1983. Ironically, Saleen does not own the rights to use his name on cars. His current business uses the name SMS Supercars.

Revstone acquired the Saleen name in February 2009.

"We want to clean the slate and get back to engineering performance cars," Borum said. "We have a wide variety of customer relationships that we look to explore."

Revstone, which also owns several auto-parts-manufacturing companies, will keep the rights to the Saleen name. It will manufacture and sell replacement Saleen parts, Borum said. It will also honor the warranties on Saleen cars.

its parts and vehicles going forward. Borum said the company is not ready to disclose those names yet. It plans to release more details about its strategy this summer.

"The teams responsible for engineering and development of Saleen bring a level of engineering prowess and passion that is second to none," Bob LaCourciere, president of Revstone Aftermarket, said in a statement. "We want to apply that same talent and dedication to second-stage manufacturing."

Unusual year

(Editor's note: Elaine Kersey brought the following age fact to our attention at the March meeting. Howard Barrett's sister supplied the rest of the following information)

This year we are going to experience 4 unusual dates. 1/1/11, 1/11/11, 11/1/11, 11/11/11 and that's not all.

Take the last 2 digits of the year in which you were born... now add the age you will be this year, and the result will be 111 for everyone!!! For example - Harry was born in 1957 and will be 54 this year, so $57+54=111$... Good eh!!!!!!!!!!

This is the year of money!!! This year October will have 5 Saturdays, 5 Sundays and 5 Mondays. This happens only once in 823 years. These particular years are known as "MONEYBAGS" The proverb goes that if you send this to 8 good friends today... money will appear in the next 4 days as explained in Chinese Feng Shui. Those who don't continue the chain won't receive anything. It's a mystery, and it's worth a try...

Does Your State Have The Priciest Auto Insurance? Or, The Least Pricey?

What's the best way to keep your rates down? A clean nose.

Maintain a clean driving record. Don't be a speed demon. Don't drive like a maniac. And certainly don't drive while under the influence of alcohol.

That's the conventional wisdom. And it's wise advice, for a number of reasons, including safety – both yours and that of others.

Your own driving record, however, isn't always the biggest factor in determining your insurance rates. There are other factors that are beyond your control, such as your address.

One major factor that determines insurance premiums is geography. It's a fact of life that auto insurance is more expensive in some states than others. To underscore that, Insure.com, in mid-March (March 14, specifically), released its annual national insurance-rate survey, which ranked all 50 states, plus the District of Columbia, by auto-insurance rates.

Do you live in one the priciest states? Well, you do if you live in Michigan, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Montana or Washington, D.C. (Yes, we know, D.C. is not technically a state, but it was included in the survey, which it should be.)

Those are the five priciest states, according to the survey, which was conducted in December by Quadrant Information Services on behalf of Insure.com. The rates are based on a 40-year-old single, male driver who commutes 12 miles to work. The sample policy used in the survey had limits of 100/300/50 ($100,000 for injury liability for one person, $300,000 for all injuries and $50,000 for property damage in an accident), and a $500 deductible on collision and comprehensive coverage. The policy also included uninsured motorist coverage.

You want numbers? Here are those five priciest states with the average annual premium that this representative would pay:

1. Michigan $2,541
2. Louisiana $2,453
3. Oklahoma $2,197
4. Montana $2,190
5. Washington, D.C. $2,146

At the bottom end, the states with the lowest average premiums in the survey were:

47. Tennessee $1,146
48. Wisconsin $1,128
49. Maine $1,126
50. South Carolina $1,095
51. Vermont $995

(editor's note: Indiana placed 26th at $1,518

The national average was $1,561.

The rankings were calculated by pricing the policy at six major insurers in each state – State Farm, Progressive, Farmers, Geico, All State and Nationwide, and were adjusted for vehicle type and geographical differences, says Amy Danise, Insure.com's managing editor.

Your own rate would be different, of course, depending on individual circumstances, such as age, driving record, and the specifics of your own coverage.

Differences state to state are accounted for by weather, state insurance laws and the each state's judicial system, says Danise. The reason Michigan is the most expensive, for example, is because it's the only state that guarantees unlimited personal injury protection payments by law, she says. It is also a state that has notoriously poor roads, icy winters and a no-inspection policy, which means that there are some real jalopies running around that can cause accidents for other vehicles.

"In most states, if a person buys injury protection coverage, they can choose their own limits, and your price is based on that," notes Danise. "Most people would choose $1,000, $2,000 or $5,000. But in Michigan, no matter what policy you buy, you get the same unlimited payments, so the insurance company is on the hook for up to $480,000 in personal injury costs, and then anything above that is paid by the Michigan Catastrophic Claims Association.

"So that's very costly for insurance companies." And, of course, those costs get passed on to policy-holders in the form of higher rates.

States that have a large percentage of uninsured motorists also tend to have higher rates. "If a person with no insurance gets into a crash and causes damage, those who do have insurance have to make the claim," Danise points out. "And, if a state has a large number of uninsured drivers, that means they have a lot of drivers who are not paying into the system. So, both of those factors means that rates to go up for everyone."

Population size and the resulting level of traffic congestion are also factors. One reason that Vermont is the least expensive state in the survey, says Danise, is because of its small population and its lack of large urban centers (which means less traffic congestion, which generally means fewer accidents.)

"And in states like Vermont, in addition to having small populations, they have long hard winters," notes Danise. "So people tend to drive less."

Looking For...

Ads will run for three months; if you want to keep the ad running, you need to re-submit it.

Careful what you wish for!!!

A man walks into a restaurant with a full-grown ostrich behind him.

The waitress asks them for their orders.

The man says, "A hamburger, fries and a coke," and turns to the ostrich, "What's yours?"

"I'll have the same," says the ostrich.

A short time later the waitress returns with the order. "That will be $9.40 please." The man reaches into his pocket and pulls out the exact change for payment.

The next day, the man and the ostrich come again and the man says, "A hamburger, fries and a coke."

The ostrich says, "I'll have the same."

Again the man reaches into his pocket and pays with exact change.

This becomes routine until the two enter again. "The usual?" asks the waitress.

"No, this is Friday night, so I will have a steak, baked potato and a salad," says the man.

"Same," says the ostrich.

Shortly the waitress brings the order and says, "That will be $32.62."

Once again the man pulls the exact change out of his pocket and places it on the table.

The waitress cannot hold back her curiosity any longer. "Excuse me, sir. How do you manage to always come up with the exact change in your pocket every time?"

"Well," says the man, "several years ago I was cleaning the attic and found an old lamp. When I rubbed it, a Genie appeared and offered me two wishes. My first wish was that if I ever had to pay for anything, I would just put my hand in my pocket and the right amount of money would always be there."

"That's brilliant!" says the waitress. "Most people would ask for a million dollars or something, but you'll always be as rich as you want for as long as you live!"

"That's right. Whether it's a gallon of milk or a Rolls Royce, the exact money is always there," says the man.

The waitress asks, "What's with the ostrich?"

The man sighs, pauses and answers, "My second wish was for a tall chick with a big behind and long legs who agrees with everything I say or want."

Ever Wonder...

1. Why the Sun lightens our hair but darkens our skin?
2. Why can't women put on mascara with their mouth closed?
3. Why don't we ever see the headline: 'Psychic Wins Lottery'?
4. Why do banks leave vault doors open and then chain the pens to the counters?
5. Why do supermarkets make the sick walk all the way to the back of the store to get their prescriptions while healthy people can buy cigarettes at the front?
6. Why is "abbreviated" such a long word?
7. Why is it that doctors call what they do "practice"?
8. Why is the man who invests all your money called a broker?
9. Why is the time of day with the slowest traffic called rush hour?
10. Why are they called apartments when they are all stuck together?
11. If flying is so safe, why do they call the airport the "terminal"?

From the Back Seat...

If you appreciate automotive writing and story telling, as I do, our world is less these days.

David E. Davis, longtime editor of Car and Driver and founder of Automobile Magazine, died last week at the age of 80 while recovering from cancer surgery.

David E.'s philosophy was probably best described in his opening editorial for Automobile Magazine:

'Automobile Magazine is a celebration of quality—quality in automobiles, quality of life, and quality in magazines. We seek adventure and the good life, and we seek them in cars that are fun to drive...

We won't waste your time with tiresome tales of boring cars...'

It might be a multi-car drive through the Midwest, a report from a European car show, or taking Detroit or the government to task for failing to react in time to foreign car makers; you always felt like you were there with him on the trip. I haven't found many other writers who can accomplish the feat.

If you haven't, track down a copy and read his collection Thus Spake David E.

R.I.P., sir. You will be missed.

The fine print...
